

Landscape Review

PHASE Three

2022 Assessment

The Impact DuPage Landscape Review Committee¹ (Committee) was charged with the collection of contextual information that would help Impact DuPage understand DuPage County residents' perception of well-being. Using qualitative research methods, the Committee sought to answer the following questions:

1. What is important to the community?
2. How is quality of life perceived?
3. What assets can be used to improve community well-being?

Updating Existing Qualitative Data Sources

The Committee met between July 2021 and October 2021 to review the results of the previous landscape review community survey, discuss and select data collection methods, develop strategies for participant recruitment, and implement data collection. Members decided to keep the overall structure and scope of the 2018 landscape review community survey as it appears to have accurately captured resident perspectives regarding community well-being. However, the committee did decide to adjust certain aspects of the previous landscape review community survey, such as minor changes to verbiage in order to ensure its accessibility to all DuPage residents. Therefore, the 2021 landscape review can be viewed as an update to the existing 2018 landscape review.

Survey Methodology

Survey Design

The Community Themes and Strengths Assessment (CTSA), a component of the Mobilizing for Action through Planning and Partnerships (MAPP) process, was a valuable resource for the Committee. The CTSA is often used by public health systems to evaluate community health by answering questions such as: What is important to our community? How is quality of life perceived in our community? and What assets do we have that can be used to improve community health?

After consulting several MAPP Community Themes and Strengths Assessment surveys from other communities, the group selected one survey used by the Partnership for a Healthier Fairfax to serve as a template for the 2014 landscape review. Survey questions were adapted to make them applicable to DuPage County for the 2018 survey. In this current version of the survey, a few demographic questions and questions about COVID-19 were added to collect relevant data. Since the current iteration of the Landscape Review is ultimately an update to the 2018 version of the survey, it was determined that a pilot was not necessary. Instead, the committee used the results of the previous Landscape Review to adjust the survey for current needs.

Once the survey was finalized (Appendices II and III), countywide roll out details were determined. An electronic version of the survey was created in Qualtrics. A paper version was created for respondents who may not have access to a computer or who may be uncomfortable with technology and was available upon request. Prior to the survey launch, communication tools were developed to promote the survey. Tools included an Impact DuPage flyer, an e-mail template, and social media messages (Appendices IV and V). The survey was administered in the community from October 1, 2021 until December 12, 2021. The survey contained questions on DuPage County's greatest strengths, important health concerns, risky behaviors, community and personal health, and where the community should focus its attention to make things better in DuPage County. The survey collected respondent demographic information including zip code, gender, age, marital status, children living in home, DuPage County residency, household income, level of education, race, ethnicity, where respondents receive healthcare and how they pay for healthcare. The survey was available in both English and Spanish.

Survey Distribution

Using the networks of Committee members, information regarding the launch of the survey was distributed via:

Paper surveys were made available upon request. A link to the survey was featured in several partner newsletters and on various agency websites and social media accounts.

Challenges

Due to the fact that the survey was opt-in, the Committee focused on capturing a representative sample of DuPage County residents rather than concentrate on a response rate. From October-December, regular updates were sent to Committee members tracking the demographics of respondents so that underrepresented populations could be targeted for survey participation. Committee members were mindful of the sample size's margin of error and confidence level. According to several survey research sources, a population of 1,000,000 (DuPage County's total population is 919,545²) requires at least 384 respondents for a 5% margin of error (answers reflect the view of the population) and at least 664 respondents for a 99% confidence level (the sample accurately samples the population). Both of these thresholds were surpassed with the survey's total of 1,099 responses. We did not receive any paper responses. Surveys completed by respondents that did not live or work in DuPage County also were not included in the findings. Although it is difficult to determine if an individual took the survey multiple times, communication tools were crafted to emphasize the importance of hearing from every DuPage County resident and to thank individuals if they had already taken the survey.

Survey Findings

A total of 1,099 responses were collected from DuPage County residents. Of those, 1,067 completed the survey in English and 32 completed the survey in Spanish. One thousand and eight people who completed the survey indicated they lived in DuPage County, while 91 people indicated they only work in DuPage County. A summary of the respondent demographics can be found in Appendix VI. The summary below contains the ten highest ranking selections with the three highest ranking selections bolded for most questions. For a complete list of rankings for all selections, see the Final Analysis including comments in Appendices VII and VIII.
